Resource Highlight: Community Counseling Center

PFW's Community Counseling Center provides counseling services to members of the community. It is also a training program for counseling graduate students—the students get experience in actual counseling situations, and community members get free counseling supervised by a faculty supervisor. They offer help with relationship and family issues, school problems, coping with loss, dealing with life adjustments, stress, depression, anxiety, and other problems.

The Community Counseling Center is located in the Dolnick Learning Center at 100 Baker Drive North, just northeast of PFW's main campus. Appointments are available Monday through Thursday 5pm-8pm, and noon-2:30pm on Tuesdays. Call 260-481-5405 to make an appointment, or learn more on their website.
