

Question Time

Why is a discussion about metrics particular to program health and sustainability being introduced less than a month after academic units submitted their USAP reports, after programs have already submitted their goals for the following year? Why was the turnaround time for the development of these metrics so short? What other units on campus are being asked to develop metrics particular to program health and sustainability?

Janet Badia
Department of Women's Studies