

Question Time

At the last meeting of the Senate, the following question was raised under "general good and welfare" and an answer was promised.

F. Kirchhoff: Last year this body passed two pieces of legislation: one dealing with the tenure stop-out and a second dealing with research misconduct. I have heard rumors to the effect that either or both of these pieces of legislation are running into some difficulty being implemented because of pressures from Purdue University West Lafayette. I don't know if this is true or not, but I would appreciate a report on the status of these two documents.
